READY FOR YOUR FUTURE

IN A COMPETITIVE, GLOBAL ECONOMY, INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY
MUST KEEP UP WITH THE RAPID EVOLUTION OF YOUR BUSINESS.
BUT THAT CAN ONLY HAPPEN WHEN NEW TECHNOLOGIES
INTEGRATE SEAMLESSLY WITH EXISTING SYSTEMS.

THAT'S WHY SAP IS FULLY COMMITTED TO OPEN TECHNOLOGY
STANDARDS. AS A RESULT, SAP CONTINUES TO LEAD THE INDUSTRY IN CREATING ADVANCED INTEGRATION TECHNOLOGIES.

BRINGING SYSTEMS TOGETHER

SAP solutions are designed for the realities of your company's complex and heterogeneous operating environment. They integrate with virtually all types of applications – including legacy systems and disparate vendor applications – to make all your solutions work better together.

As a result, they protect your investments, today and in the future, while providing you with unprecedented visibility into your entire value chain. So you can make better-informed strategic decisions.

Now, with SAP NetWeaver and SAP xApps™ packaged composite applications, SAP has combined its business solutions expertise with the best of today's open technologies to develop the next generation of its technology platform, as well as a new category of business applications.

SAP NetWeaver

SAP NetWeaver is the open integration and application platform used across all SAP solutions and selected SAP partner solutions. With its Enterprise Services Architecture, this Web-based platform supports business process evolution while reducing the complexity and total cost of ownership (TCO) of your information technology landscape. It easily integrates information and applications from virtually any source and is fully interoperable with the most popular development standards – Microsoft .NET and IBM WebSphere. And it ensures maximum reliability, security, and scalability, so that your mission-critical business processes run smoothly.

SAP xApps

SAP has developed a family of easily configurable packaged composite applications that are powered by SAP NetWeaver. SAP xApps composite applications span multiple applications, departments, and organizations to extend the value of your existing IT investment. They support cross-functional, end-to-end processes to help you execute sophisticated business strategies more quickly. And they support collaborative decision making to help you leverage the power of teamwork. For example, SAP xApp™ Resource and Program Management (SAP xRPM) is a comprehensive project portfolio management application that gives business managers and teams more accurate insight into project costs and performance. It unifies project-management, time-tracking, and financial information and gives you real-time visibility into projects. Other SAP xApps composite applications currently available include SAP xApp Emissions Management (SAP xEM) and SAP xApp Product Definition (SAP xPD). And many more packaged composite applications are being developed by both SAP and its partner organizations.

Accelerating Innovation

Because they facilitate integration and collaborative processes, these SAP offerings help accelerate business innovation. Just as important, they ensure that SAP solutions will continue to deliver value to your organization for years to come.

This is the kind of innovation that customers have come to expect from SAP: Genuine. Large in scale. And focused on real-world results.
